12. Political Debates between Abraham Lincoln & Stephen Douglas 1894 Antique Book!

Lincoln, Abraham. Political Debates Between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas in the Celebrated Campaign on 1858 in Illinois, Including the Preceding Speeches of Each at Chicago, Springfield, Etc. Also, The Two Great Speeches of Abraham Lincoln in Ohio in 1859.

The Burrows Brothers Company, Cleveland. This is an 1894 Limited Edition Antique copy of "POLITICAL DEBATES BETWEEN ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS," containing speeches and documents of the Lincoln-Douglas debates, one of the most momentous events in US history, and which helped propel Lincoln to the presidency. Reared in a poor family on the western frontier, Lincoln was mostly self-educated. He became a country lawyer, an Illinois state legislator, and a one-term member of the United States House of Representatives, but failed in two attempts at a seat in the United States Senate. After opposing the expansion of slavery in the United States in his campaign debates and speeches, Lincoln secured the Republican nomination and was elected president in 1860. Following declarations of secession by southern slave states, the war began on April 12, 1861, and he concentrated on both the military and political dimensions of the war effort, seeking to reunify the nation. He vigorously exercised unprecedented war powers, including the arrest and detention without trial of thousands of suspected secessionists. He prevented British recognition of the Confederacy by skillfully handling the Trent affair late in 1861. He issued his Emancipation Proclamation in 1863 and promoted the passage of the Thirteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, abolishing slavery. Lincoln closely supervised the war effort, especially the selection of top generals, including commanding general Ulysses S. Grant. Former rebound library book with the usual markings. 149.99
